

M'NEAL FACES OHIO PENITENTIARY AS JURORS REPORT AFTER DELIBERATION OF NINE HOURS

LESSER CRIME IS DECISION

Assault With Intent to Rape Finding; Means
One to 15 Years

20 BALLOTS TAKEN

Verdict Comes at 10:10 a.
m. Thursday

Newell McNeal, 50, Williamsport, must serve from one to 15 years in the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus, a jury of seven women and five men decided in Judge Joseph W. Adkins' court at 10:10 a. m. Thursday. Mr. McNeal was convicted of assault with intent to rape Margaret Pontius, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pontius of Deercreek-twp.

The act was charged to have been committed last Nov. 28. The jury deliberated, in all an even nine hours. The verdict was perused by Judge Adkins then read aloud by clerk of Courts Ferd M. Pickens. It was signed by L. B. Daley of Ashville, foreman, and when the jury was polled each juror stated it was his or her verdict.

Members of the jury besides Mr. Daley, a grocer, were Grace Balpaugh, Madison-twp.; Alice Balpaugh, Walnut-twp.; Joe Thomas, Wayne-twp.; G. W. Winthoff, Monroe-twp.; Mary Porter, Perry-twp.; Mrs. H. S. Hatfield, Monroe-twp.; Harry Griner, Circleville; Lillian Holt, Muhlenberg-twp.; Fred Fissell, Circleville; Margaret Bauhan, Darby-twp., and Alda Bartley, Pickaway-twp.

19 OR 20 BALLOTS
The jury foreman when questioned after the jury had been dismissed declared that he did not know definitely how many ballots were taken although he surmised there were either 19 or 20. As soon as a ballot was taken it was destroyed, he said, and no account of it marked. He did not remember what the first ballot was nor any of the others.

Although the verdict was not that charged in the indictment, rape, it was the next of four decisions offered as possible by Judge Adkins. The verdict of rape carried a sentence of one to 20 years in the penitentiary. That of assault with intent is from one to 15 years. The jury was also instructed that it could return a finding of assault and battery, or of just battery, or not guilty, if they found the evidence such. Both the latter possibilities carried only a county jail sentence and a fine.

STATE VICTORY
The verdict is generally considered as a real victory for the state whose case was conducted by Prosecuting Attorney Emmitt L. Crist.

The jury was given the case following Judge Adkins' charge at 2:50 p. m. Wednesday. It deliberated until 5:30 p. m. and was sent out to dinner under the supervision of Sheriff Charles Radcliff. It returned at 6:45 p. m. and again deliberated until 11:05 p. m. At this time Judge Adkins called the jurors to the room and asked the foreman if there was any chance for an early verdict. He replied in the negative.

He then ordered members taken to the Boggs Hotel for the night and named Morris Boggs to take care of the men and Mrs. Marian Lutz the women. The jurors were admonished not to discuss the case and were ordered to return at 8 a. m.

SEEK NEW TRIAL
Mr. McNeal's counsel, Tom A. Renick and C. A. Weldon, are expected to file a motion for a new trial and have three days in which to do so. At that time McNeal will be sentenced.

The case began Monday morning and drew one of the largest crowds in local records. The courtroom was jammed even heavier than for the recent murder trials and when the jury was dismissed Wednesday night the room was still filled.

RETURN OF 'GIPPER' BRINGS MEMORIES

J. F. "Gipper" Holt, now of Columbus, but who has roamed the country over from Maine to California, has been spending a few days in the old home town.

"Gipper" is now, and always has been, a decided brunette showing a bit of gray in his somewhat scanty locks, but what endeared him to Circleville, back in the eighties and early nineties, was that he was by all odds the best third baseman ever produced in Ohio, or any other darn State.

Thinking of "Gipper" brings back the old Circleville Buckeye ball team, a cracking good amateur club that flourished during those years. There were Jimmie Noonan, Paddy and Rome Hestinger, Sep, Skeet and Billy Moeller, Win Clark, Charlie Straight, Billie Heiser, Joe Stephens, Willard Wright, Billy Burgett, Charlie Irwin and "Gipper."

Some yet living, some have passed along, some here and some there, but they were as fine a lot of ball players and as fine a lot of fellows as ever lived.

SUSPECT JAILED IN BOMB OUTRAGE

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—With one suspect already under arrest, police today searched the city's underworld haunts for the terrorists who tossed a bomb in front of Judge John P. McGoorty's home, blinding and crippling a 16-year-old boy and maiming a 16-year-old mother.

Determined to find the perpetrators of the outrage, Judge McGoorty, veteran foe of gangsters, actively joined the hunt for the bombers. He announced that he will call on Acting Chief Justice Denis E. Sullivan of the Supreme Court today and request a conference of all judges. The request of the superior court, Judge McGoorty said, will be thrown into the investigation.

Franklin Sedan Skids Off
Goosepond-pk and Pins
Youth to Ground

Harmon Bach, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bach of Circleville, R. F. D. 6, and brother of Edwin, George and DeWitt Bach of this city, narrowly escaped serious injury about 8 p. m. Wednesday when the Franklin sedan in which he was riding skidded off the road on the Goosepond-pk, several miles northwest of Circleville, pinning him under the car.

The young man was enroute to a friend's home in Jackson-twp when the accident occurred. He was driving at a moderate rate of speed and in attempting to round a curve near the John VanMeter farm, the car failed to make the turn. Bach was thrown out of the car down a small embankment and the car tumbled down upon him.

GASOLINE SOAKED

The Franklin fell on him in such a way that he did not receive a cut. However he was pinned under the car for over twenty minutes. Gasoline coming out of the gas tank soaked his clothes and the motor continued to run. A spark from the motor would have ignited the car and the young man would have burned to death.

Mr. and Mrs. Garndee Dewey of Jackson-twp, driving along the road, discovered the accident and pulled Bach from under the demolished machine. A new suit he was wearing had to be cut off before he could be extracted from the car.

Bach had eaten supper with his brother, George Bach of N. Court-st, before he began his trip.

DEFICIT IS DENIED

Claims G. O. P. Bossed in Toledo, Cleveland

TROY, Sept. 22.—Republican state candidates were charged with making "wildly exaggerated statements and promises accompanied by many misstatements of facts" in a campaign address by Gov. George White here today at a Miami-co Democratic picnic.

The first important speech in the Governor's campaign for reelection since he spoke at the Democratic state convention Aug. 19, it warned voters that the Republicans are "an inexperienced untried and untested crew."

Without mentioning names the Governor said:

"UNTESTED CREW"

"Do they (the voters) wish to man the ship of state with an inexperienced, untried and untested crew to embark upon an unknown and uncharted sea with steering orders coming from political bosses in Cleveland and Toledo?"

"The fitness of men for public office may often be judged by the character of campaign they make for it. Since the opening of the present campaign, we have seen the state flooded by Republican candidates with wildly exaggerated statements and promises accompanied by many misstatements of facts which must have been willfully made."

White then answered charges of former governor, Myers Y. Cooper, and David S. Ingalls, Republican gubernatorial nominees, that his claims to economy are "a mirage" and that a deficit is faced.

"We shall close the year with a saving of $10,000,000 in general revenue expenditures under 1931 with the budget balance and no deficit in the general revenue fund," White said.

But Funds Are Nil; Question Hanging.

Circleville will have special police during Pumpkin Show. Certainly but who will pay for them? Wednesday evening, Safety Director J. Wallace Crist, who is also a Pumpkin Show director, asked council what it could do concerning payment of special police. The reply was that there is not a penny in any city fund which might be used for that purpose. E. S. Neuding, finance committee chairman, informed Mr. Crist that, with the exception of the gasoline tax fund and the highway fund practically every other fund now faces an overdraft.

"There is not a dollar on hand," Mr. Neuding said, "and I wish we were in position to pay for special police but we are not."

As a means of protecting the lives of school children and of the general public, 107 buses which haul Pickaway-co's school children to and from various schools, will undergo inspection here Saturday by members of the Ohio Department of Motor Vehicles and by officials of the Columbus Auto Club.

WHO'LL PAY COPS AT PUMPKIN SHOW?

Safety Director Asks Council
But Funds Are Nil; Question Hanging.

Circleville will have special police during Pumpkin Show. Certainly. But who will pay for them? Wednesday evening, Safety Director J. Wallace Crist, who is also a Pumpkin Show director, asked council what it could do concerning payment of special police. The reply was that there is not a penny in any city fund which might be used for that purpose. E. S. Neuding, finance committee chairman, informed Mr. Crist that with the exception of the gasoline tax fund and the highway fund practically every other fund now faces an overdraft.

"There is not a dollar on hand," Mr. Neuding said. "I only wish we were in position to pay for special police but we are not."

Directors of the Pumpkin Show will discuss the question at its meeting Monday evening.

OHIO REPUBLICANS TALK WITH BROWN

COLUMBUS, Sept. 22.—Ohio Republican campaign workers were spurred to new efforts today with the arrival here of Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, national committeeman, who held a series of conferences with campaign leaders.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Carle of Deercreek-twp, announce the birth of a daughter, Wednesday, Sept. 21.

Dr. Ira Landrith, chairman of the National Temperance Council, will speak here Sunday at 3 p. m. on behalf of prohibition at a mass meeting of men, women and young people. The meeting is under the auspices of a number of local ministers.

All who are interested in prohibition are asked to hear a frank discussion of what prohibition is accomplishing and what its friends must do to meet the attacks being made on the 18th amendment.

The prohibition cause has become one of the most vital issues of the day, and it is important that every voter have a well grounded knowledge of the facts before he goes to the polls in November. In the interests of the voters of today and for the benefit of the voters of tomorrow, the young people, one of the foremost champions of the prohibition cause will come to this city.

MAJORITY IN FAVOR

The majority of the American people, Dr. Landrith and his associates believe, are in favor of the 18th amendment, but they believe also that the amendment stands in jeopardy unless its friends can be roused and stimulated to make an organized effort in its support. This Dr. Landrith and the other speakers of the Allied Forces have been attempting to do, and they have met with a large measure of success. Enrollment and organization have been their aims, and through their efforts, under the leadership of Dr. Daniel A. Foling, chairman of the Allied Forces, a great new body of support for prohibition has been developed. A million and a half adults and 500,000 young people have pledged their active co-operation in preserving the 18th amendment. In each city which

Twenty-Four Cases Scheduled for Disposition Beginning Friday

ROBBERY CASES UP

Holland, Styers, Brannan
Facing Charges

With 24 cases, several of them of importance, scheduled for deliberation, grand jurors of the September term of court are to report at the office of Clerk of Courts Ferd M. Pickens at 9 a. m. Friday. It is expected the session will last all day Friday, eliminate Saturday and run over to Monday.

Probably the most important case locally is that of burglary and larceny against Charles "Chuck" Holland, Kenneth Styers and Dan Brannan. These youths, with Merle Thomas, 16, were arrested by city officers after the robbery of the Fred Fissell store several weeks ago. Thomas was sent to the Mansfield reformatory when sentenced by Judge E. A. Brown in juvenile court. The youths all admitted participation in several other crimes including the robbery of the A. C. Cook confectionery, the H. O. Eveland grocery and the Grand Theatre.

COMBS CASE UP

Another important case is that of Adrian Combs, 27, charged with robbing the Herbert E. Louis store at New Holland at the point of a revolver and then shooting with intent to kill Louis' son, Josef, who stepped from another room holding an unloaded rifle in his hands. Combs was arrested at Chillicothe a few days after the crime. He admitted the robbery charge after being identified by Mr. Louis but denied deadly intent in shooting at the Louis lad. The bullet from Combs' revolver missed young Louis by a few inches.

Irvin Brigner of Muhlenberg-twp, arrested here for forging a number of checks, also faces grand jury action. Four charges have been placed against him although approximately 20 forged checks have been connected with Brigner, whose activities ran for several months before he was arrested in the Crist Department store.

TWO STATUTES

Two cases of rape will be studied by the grand jury. They are against Cy Hinton of Darbyville, alleged to be the father of his daughter's child, and against J. P. Price of Chillicothe on charges brought by Lucille Roberts, showgirl, who charges Prices with assault with intent. She appeared here with Price's J. P. Rodeo.

Other charges to be studied by the grand jurors are against: Alvis Miller and Lee Norris for larceny; Frank Hensley for defrauding an inn-keeper; H. W. Riggan for bad checks; George Stevens for assault and battery; Roscoe Peters for bad checks; Alva Petty for menacing threats; M. E. Wright for non-support; Merrit Jones for larceny; Ed Heen for failure to provide. Several other non-support and failure to provide cases will probably be investigated by the grand jury although the persons involved were not disclosed.

THREE CONTINUED

Three cases carried over from the last grand jury, against Jess Riley for selling mortgaged property, William Dalton for bad checks and Lucille Roberts and Texas Slim Collins for horse theft will also be disposed of during the session.

AMONG COUNTY SCHOOLS

DARBY SCHOOL NOTES

School work has been progressing very nicely during the first two weeks of school. The boys and girls have started off with the apparent determination to make this the best year's work they have ever done in school.

Fred Matthews and Esther Wintz of the class of '32 have enrolled in Ohio University. Helen Guzik, '32 is attending Bliss College and Dorinda Campbell and Jennie Smith of '32 are at the Buckeye Business School in Columbus. Paul Eugene Matthews of '30 has returned to his work at Ohio U. Robert Hill of '32 is registering at O. S. U. and his sister, Kathryn of '30 has returned to Capital University.

Nearly all of our teachers attended the County Teachers' Meeting held at Ashville last Saturday. The boys and girls both won ball games last Friday, defeating Muldenberg's teams on the home grounds. We hope to be able to play Scioto at Commercial Point this Friday afternoon.

PICKAWAY-TWP SCHOOL NOTES

All of the Pickaway Twp teachers attended the first county meeting at Ashville last Saturday. They also have a 100 per cent membership in the O. E. A. and the C. O. T. A. Half of them are members of the N. E. A.

Our contribution to the Logan Elm fund was $7.50 and most of this amount was made up of pennies and nickels from a large number of the boys and girls.

Our first athletic venture turned out disastrously so far as our scoring was concerned. The Saltcreek boys defeated us 14 to 4 and the girls, 12 to 1. These games were played on our grounds last Friday. This week we play at Washington, and next week the Adelphi teams come here.

The new hard surface pike by our building is a great improvement and we thank the commissioners for it. In addition to improved travel conditions, we benefit by having much less dust on our furniture and in our eyes and lungs.

BERRY IS VISITOR
George C. Berry, Franklin-co

Superintendent, made a tour thru our plane Sunday afternoon and was surprised at both the commodious quarters and the extensive equipment. He and Mrs. Berry were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Carpenter. Mr. Carpenter was at Gahanna and New Albany in Franklin County 5 years before he came here.

Attendance last week was not very good; several of the boys were cutting corn. The first of this week there was considerable improvement, and we hope it continues. There is nothing more exasperating to a teacher than ragged attendance and nothing that interferes so much with good work.

Our cafeteria patronage is about the same as last year with about half of the pupils bringing their lunch and the other half buying it. Mrs. Alkire serves a mighty nice lunch for ten cents. Children who do not buy this lunch should have a thermos bottle with warm amount of warm food is far better than a large amount of cold food. Many of the boys and girls eat to much for their mental and physical good. This is especially true of those who carry a cold lunch. Health is a child's greatest asset. It should be guarded zealously. Our eating habits determine in a large measure the state of our health.

All of the teachers and building custodians and their families enjoyed the annual autumn picnic at Logan Elm last Wednesday evening. There was steak with all of the trimmings, and watermelon to spare. No one went away hungry.

Wedding gifts were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Porter (Faye Wood) and to Mr. and Mrs. Leo Smith. Those present were E. H. Althaus, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Bradley and daughter, Miss Mary Brann, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Carpenter and son, Walter Denman, Miss Kathleen Dilsaver, Miss Helen Hitler, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, Miss Thelma O'Hara, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Porter, Miss Mary Radcliffe, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Seitz, and daughters, Miss Mildred Shaner, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Smith, S. M. Vanzant and Miss Mildred Wertman.

Our instrumental music enrollment has increased slightly. Mr. Elliott has 9 violin students, Mr. Morrison has 8 on reeds and drums, and Mr. Todhunter has 8 on trumpets, trombones and mellophones. What we need now is a tuba of a sousaphone of a euphonium. Who is interested? In addition to those taking their private lessons from these instructors, there are seven or eight who take elsewhere and play in our orchestra. At present the orchestra has 27 pieces. Others will join later, as soon as they progress in their private lessons to point where they can carry orchestra parts.

WASHINGTON-TWP SCHOOL NOTES

Washington-twp school started school Sept. 5 with probably one of the largest enrollments in its history, 211 pupils being present the first day. The High School contains 81 pupils.

Under the new organization the six upper grades are departmentalized and are taught by the H. S. teacher. The seventh and eighth year girls are given some work in sewing. The seventh and eighth boys are to have some mechanical drawing and some tool work.

We are pleased with the six year high school plan and believe the boys and girls will not drop out at the end of the eighth grade, thinking they have completed one phase of their school life.

INSTALL FOUNTAIN
A new fountain has been installed at the rear of the school building, which is a much needed improvement.

The following teachers attended Ohio State university this summer: Mrs. Charlotte Gayer, Mr. Wendell Boyer and Mr. Loren Straight.

Every teacher has a full load this year. Some have more than they should have but with extra hard work we expect to make a good showing for the years work. Miss Spangler has 25 beginners besides having the second grade of 15. It will tax her straight and ingenuity to do what she would like with this group. The other teachers Miss Kuhn and Miss DeLong have about the same as last year. The upper six grades average twenty pupils per teacher. The entire faculty is as follows:

C. D. Bennett, superintendent, Mrs. Charlotte Gayer, principal, Wendell Boyer, Mrs. Ruth Marion, Loren Straight, Nelie Kuhn, Ruth DeLong and Edith Spangler.

Fat folk should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce 'as tens of thousands of men and women know.

Lost 20 Lbs. of Fat In Just 4 Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for, and get Kruschen at any drug store—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back.—Adv.

The Daily Horoscope

Thursday, Sept. 22, 1932

Conflicting planetary influences are discerned for today; it will be well to pay attention to the health and protect the general interest rather than make effort to extend them.

These vibrations during the morning especially are exciting, enervating, and disruptive. Seers warn you, that judgment, analysis and discrimination are apt to be very poor.

Relax during the morning hours and keep the mind concentrated especially toward noon.

It is not a good day for correspondence, bookkeeping, communications, literature, industrial, financial, professional, social and amusement interests. Conferences should not be held today.

Under this rule of the stars, the greater part of the day is inauspicious for seeking favors, or dealing with those of high position.

Common sense should be used in dealing with sensitive people. It is necessary to exercise tact, diplomacy and consideration in contact with others in order to avoid giving offense.

During the evening hours there may be a tendency toward relaxation, with a desire to rest. There are no indications that this time would be favorable for business or negotiations of an important nature.

Under this sway the death rate may be high in the United States. Disputes regarding foreign relations are indicated.

Children born in this day probably will be fond of the good things of life; they need to be taught concentration early in life, they will do their best when free from excitement.

Philip Dormer Stanhope, Earl of Chesterfield, English author, was born on this day. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Michael Faraday, English chemist and physicist James Bowdoin, 1752 noted philanthropist.

There are to be found the rich and poor, the great and humble, the old and young—all eking out their lives in a common pursuit of money.

MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY
BY ANTHONY ABBOT

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY COWLEY-FRIEDE INC., DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Lola Carewe, "The Night Club Lady," is mysteriously murdered in her penthouse apartment at three o'clock New Year's morning. An hour later, the body of Lola's guest, Christine Quires, is found in Lola's room. Christine had been killed first and her body hidden. Dr. Hugh Baldwin attributes both deaths due to heart failure. Guy Everett, Christine's New Year's Eve escort, claims he brought her home at 12:15 and then went riding, alone, on the Motor Parkway. Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, denies seeing Christine return. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt discounts District Attorney Dougherty's theory that Lola was killed by a jewel thief ring she headed and that Christine met the same fate for knowing too much. Vincent Rowland, Lola's lawyer, discloses that Everett loved Lola and was jealous of Dr. Baldwin. The Commissioner telephones a picture of a young man, named Basil, found on Lola's dresser, to the Paris Prefect of Police requesting that he identify it and investigate Lola's past. The police are on the trail of Christine's brother, Edgar, who left his Rochester home for New York after receiving a telegram New Year's Eve. Christine was to have inherited wealth shortly. Dr. Multooler, the medical examiner, contradicts Dr. Baldwin's statement that heart failure caused the deaths.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

THERE was no indication of a history of old heart-trouble? In either girl?

"None whatever. The girls' hearts were sound as a dollar."

"But Doctor Baldwin told us Lola had suffered from a weak heart."

"Something wrong there, Mr. Colt. I know damn well that her heart could not have suddenly gone haywire and caused the condition I found. The heart muscle constrictions in both girls were simply unbelievable."

"Have you no theory at all as to what caused the constriction of the heart muscles?" asked Colt.

"I admit it would look like some foreign cause—poison—something external that had just got into the system either the minute before you found her, or sometime afterward," declared the Assistant Medical Examiner stoutly. "But I went all over them again—even saw a trace of their heads—there was no trace of poison, and furthermore there was no skin puncture anywhere except on Lola Carewe's arm, the tiny hole made by Doctor Baldwin's hypodermic needle. And that's been analyzed down here. It was absolutely innocent—the solution of adrenalin was absolutely harmless!"

Colt cleared his throat unhelpfully.

"Now, Doctor Multooler," he said, "please don't take what I am going to say as a criticism. And I am sorry to ask you to work any more, after the pace you've been going. But this much I know—unless I am making the biggest blunder of my life, there has to be a puncture somewhere on the body of Christine Quires. Will you look again?"

"Mr. Commissioner!"

The voice of Doctor J. L. Multooler rang with injury and reproach.

"You know you can count on me!" he cried earnestly. "Of course I'll look again. Maybe I'll find something this time. And I'm all the more willing, Mr. Colt, because—even though I have failed to find anything—I know this is murder!"

"What makes you say that?"

"That belt you found!"

"Belt?"

"Strap, I mean—the strap with the buckle on it!"

"What did they find?" urged Colt, his voice charged with eagerness.

"Mr. Colt, they found on the leather of that strap a number of microscopic pieces of human skin."

charge heard chiefly in quarters which have advocated unsuccessfully costly public works without a utilitarian value and affording relatively little relief for the jobless.

Informed persons are satisfied that Washington has done the best it could under the circumstances. Only a miracle worker could in one fell swoop balance the budget, provide the last dollar needed for public construction and unemployment relief, and avoid pork-barrel legislation in every form.

A week-end used to mean the end of the week instead of the beginning of it.

CENTENARY CELEBRATION

WATERTOWN, Mass.—This year marks a new century at Perkins Institution and Mass. State School for the Blind where there are 300 patients. One hundred and 80 Samuel G. May, Jr. with two assistants whom he had brought from Edinboro and Paris began the first instruction of the blind with six pupils in a room in his father's house in Boston.

REOPEN AVIATION FIELD

COLUMBIA, O.—Norton F. Columbus, pioneer aviation field, which was recently abandoned by the U. S. Army flying school, will be reopened October 30, 1932, at Norton F. Columbus Corp. and arrangements are being made to provide facilities for cross country and steeplechase flying.

"Mr. Colt," he declared, "I have come here, hounded by my conscience, to make a confession."

There is no doubt that the strap was around the throat of Christine Quires!

So—this explained the diabolical markings on the dead girl's throat! But what did that make clear?

"Could she have been choked to death?" asked Thatcher Colt.

"Absolutely not!" declared Doctor Multooler, emphatically.

"You will try again," begged Colt.

"At once, Mr. Colt."

"Thank you," said Thatcher Colt crisply.

"Happy New Year," caroled the autopsist as he hung up.

There was a baffled glint in the eyes of Thatcher Colt as he turned from the telephone and repeated what he had heard to District Attorney Dougherty.

"How was the thing done?" he demanded aloud, as he sat back and filled his pipe. "There are no really new methods in crime. But I can't remember a single case that resembles this one!"

Then, with a philosophical sigh, he added:

"However, we have only started."

Further comment was held up by entrance of the black Arthur pushing a breakfast table on wheels. The sight and smell of that meal suddenly made me realize that we had been working all night and that I, for one, was ravenous.

In silence we began to eat. There was creamed chicken on toast, hot rolls and marmalade, and the exquisite coffee which Colt's butler grinds and boils with such loving artistry; the smell of that coffee is like an incense in my memory. After his third cup of that priceless beverage, and a voracious attack on the chicken, Dougherty leaned back, beaming brightly. When at last he spoke, his conversation had nothing to do with the crime. Instead, Dougherty began to talk of his shooting lodge in the Adirondacks of the ways of wild game in fog and sunshine, and the joys of living the hermit's life, which Dougherty, who had been married three times and had eleven children, could hymn with gusto. Colt responded in kind, enthusing over the fishing near the shores of Cape Cod, where he has his summer home. In this vein the talk rolled on, until Arthur interrupted us with an announcement:

DENIED COMPENSATION FOR LOSS OF LEG

BUDAPEST A beggar is not entitled to damages for the loss of a leg, ruled the district court of Debreczin, because damages are awarded to compensate for loss of income due to the impairment.

The beggar, Joseph Ball, 57, years-old, was already a cripple with one leg. He was run over by a street car and lost the other leg. He sued the street car company for $10,000 damages, about $300,000,000.

The court found the motorman guilty of negligence and held that the loss of the second leg ought to be an advantage rather than a disadvantage to a man in Ball's position.

Lack of Sleep May Account For Many Minor Illnesses

Six to Eight Hours' Rest Nightly Is Essential to Give Nature a Chance to Restore Energy Lost in the Waking Hours

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

MANY minor ailments can be traced to a lack of sleep. Yet the average person does not give much thought to the subject of sleep. Though he knows he feels better after a good night's rest, he may neglect this simple measure of health. The temptation to stay up late makes him forget his resolution to go to bed early.

A well nourished and healthy individual requires six to eight hours of sleep. A man may live for days without water, and a much longer time without food, but if he is deprived of sleep he usually goes out of his mind after the fifth or sixth day.

Sleep is essential to the proper growth and recuperation of the body. Fatigue breaks down the tissues and during sleep the body attempts to restore the cells and the energy that have been lost in the waking hours.

Causes of Insomnia

There are many who realize the importance of sleep but find it difficult to sleep. Insomnia, wakefulness, is a dreaded and often difficult trouble to overcome. Fear, worry, mental and severe emotional strain, are usually the underlying causes of thousands of cases of insomnia.

Sound sleep is restful sleep. It is usually a habit acquired in early life. The infant who has been taught to sleep at regular hours, grows and develops more quickly than the child who has scanty and broken sleep. The child taught to sleep properly is given a heritage he will carry with him throughout life.

Thoughts of Winter

THE season is at hand when people talk in terms of coal fires, fur coats and flannel cakes and flannel underwear. Summer sports and summer thoughts are "on the shelf" until the spring of 1933.

None of the four seasons and none of the many kinds of weather suits everybody, but winter and cold weather would win hands down in an unpopularity contest. The only good most adults can see in winter is that it makes the other three seasons the more welcome.

However, winter at its coldest and dreariest has its good points. Without it what would become of the "great American home" in this age of automobiles, golf and other outside attractions? Regardless of what alarmists and social workers say, the home fireside is a popular spot when the winds blow bitter cold and snow and ice argue for leaving the car in the garage.

Winter makes walking and motoring precarious and in other ways makes itself a nuisance generally, but to the radio fan it brings joy without end. The motoring enthusiast mops all winter awaiting the return of good touring weather, but the radio fan suffers from "radio summer complaint" until fall and winter bring reception up to its best.

However, winter has lost some of its former horrors. The central heating plant has robbed it of some of its former discomfort and inconvenience. Good roads and systematic snow removal in town and country keep the car going twelve months in the year. And much outdoor construction work, once halted by the arrival of cold weather, now defies snow and freezing temperatures.

One reason why America develops no great leaders is because it doesn't stay mad long enough.

Value of Statistics

SCIENCE, invention and industry have advanced so rapidly of late that the human race is inclined to egotism and excessive self-confidence. A wholesome antidote is found in the fact that five states do not keep a complete registration of deaths. The registration of births is still less complete.

The census as an organic part of the system of government was first adopted by the United States. The first decennial census was taken in 1790. But the founders of the United States government did not have the remotest conception of the necessity of gathering vital statistics. Not until 1850 was any enumeration of deaths attempted.

Collection of vital statistics is properly within the province of the individual states. But an important part of the work of the census bureau at Washington is the compilation of national totals from the records kept by states.

Vital statistics have other uses than providing newspaper stories and assisting in the compilation of life insurance mortality tables. They warn public health service of disease trends reassure the public when they show a decreasing death rate increasing birth rate and lengthening span of life, and give medical research invaluable information.

While the keeping of accurate records of deaths and births is costly and necessities efficient machinery, the benefits more than compensate for the cost in money and effort. Bureaus of vital statistics have not brought bureaucracy into disfavor.

The thing that does most to reveal the absurdity of over-emphasis of football is a losing team.

Practical "Relief"

A FACT recognized by the administration and congress from the beginning of the depression is that public expenditure has a part and a very important one in leading the nation back to prosperity. It is not enough to prosper but it helps materially.

Authorization by the administration of $200,000,000 more of public works will create jobs, increase purchasing power, assist industry in supplying materials for the work and stimulate general business. And these are the things that promote prosperity.

This new program increases to $750,000,000 the federal funds to be spent during the present fiscal year for unemployment-relief construction, and brings to $2,300,000,000 the total cost of federal public works since the beginning of the depression. This is more than double the normal federal expenditure on such work.

Here is refutation of the complaint that the administration has not recognized the importance of public construction when private construction is at a standstill, a

"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY COWLEY-FRUEDE INC., DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Lola Carewe, "The Night Club Lady", is mysteriously murdered in her penthouse apartment at three o'clock New Year's morning. An hour later, the body of Lola's guest, Christine Quires, is found in Lola's room. Christine had been killed first and her body hidden. Dr. Hugh Baldwin attributes both deaths due to heart failure. Guy Everett, Christine's New Year's Eve escort, claims he brought her home at 12:15 and then went riding, alone, on the Motor Parkway. Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, denies seeing Christine return. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt discounts District Attorney Dougherty's theory that Lola was killed by a jewel thief ring she headed and that Christine met the same fate for knowing too much. Vincent Rowland, Lola's lawyer, discloses that Everett loved Lola and was jealous of Dr. Baldwin. The Commissioner telephones a picture of a young man, named Basil, found on Lola's dresser, to the Paris Prefect of Police requesting that he identify it and investigate Lola's past. The police are on the trail of Christine's brother, Edgar, who left his Rochester home for New York after receiving a telegram New Year's Eve. Christine was to have inherited wealth shortly. Dr. Multooler, the medical examiner, contradicts Dr. Baldwin's statement that heart failure caused the deaths.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

THERE was no indication of a history of old heart trouble? In either girl?"

"None whatever. The girls' hearts were sound as a dollar."

"But Doctor Baldwin told us Lola had suffered from a weak heart."

"Something wrong there, Mr. Colt. I know damn well that her heart could not have suddenly gone haywire and caused the condition I found. The heart muscle constrictions in both girls were simply unbelievable."

"Have you no theory at all as to what caused the constriction of the heart muscles?" asked Colt.

"I admit it would look like some foreign cause—poison—something external that had just got into the system either the minute before you found her, or sometime afterward," declared the Assistant Medical Examiner stoutly. "But I went all over them again—even shaved their heads—there was no trace of poison, and furthermore there was no skin puncture anywhere except on Lola Carewe's arm, the tiny hole made by Doctor Baldwin's hypodermic needle. And that's been analyzed down here. It was absolutely innocent—the solution of adrenalin was absolutely harmless!"

Colt cleared his throat unhappily. "Now, Doctor Multooler," he said, "please don't take what I am going to say as a criticism. And I am sorry to ask you to work any more, after the pace you've been going. But this much I know—unless I am making the biggest blunder of my life, there has to be a puncture somewhere on the body of Christine Quires. Will you look again?"

"Mr. Commissioner!"

The voice of Doctor J. L. Multooler rang with injury and reproach. "You know you can count on me!" he cried earnestly. "Of course I'll look again. Maybe I'll find something this time. And I'm all the more willing, Mr. Colt, because—even though I have failed to find anything—I know this is murder!"

"What makes you say that?"

"That belt you found!"

"Belt?"

"Strap, I mean—the strap with the buckle on it!"

"What did they find?" urged Colt, his voice charged with eagerness.

"Mr. Colt, they found on the leather of that strap a number of microscopic pieces of human skin."

charge heard chiefly in quarters which have advocated unsuccessfully costly public works without a utilitarian value and affording relatively little relief for the jobless.

Informed persons are satisfied that Washington has done the best it could under the circumstances. Only a miracle worker could in one fell swoop balance the budget, provide the last dollar needed for public construction and unemployment relief, and avoid pork-barrel legislation in every form.

A week-end used to mean the end of the week instead of the week-enders.

CENTENARY CELEBRATION

WATERTOWN, Mass.—This year marks a new century at Perkins Institution and Massachusetts School for the Blind, where there are 300 patients. One hundred years ago Samuel Gridley Howe, with two assistants whom he had brought from Edinburgh and Paris, began the first instruction of the blind with six pupils in a room in his father's house in Boston.

REOPEN AVIATION FIELD

COLUMBUS, O.—Norton Field, Columbus pioneer aviation center, which was recently abandoned by the U. S. army flying service, will be reopened October 1 to commercial flying. It will be known as the Norton Aviation Corp., and arrangements are being made to provide facilities for cross country and itinerant flying.

"Mr. Colt," he declared, "I have come here, hounded by my conscience, to make a confession."

There is no doubt that the strap was around the throat of Christine Quires!"

So—this explained the diabolical markings on the dead girl's throat! But what did that make clear?

"Could she have been choked to death?" asked Thatcher Colt.

"Absolutely not!" declared Doctor Multooler, emphatically.

"You will try again?" begged Colt.

"At once, Mr. Colt."

"Thank you," said Thatcher Colt crisply.

"Happy New Year," caroled the autopsist as he hung up.

There was a baffled glint in the eyes of Thatcher Colt as he turned from the telephone and repeated what he had heard to District Attorney Dougherty.

"How was the thing done?" he demanded aloud, as he sat back and filled his pipe. "There are no really new methods in crime. But I can't remember a single case that resembles this one!"

Then, with a philosophical sigh, he added:

"However, we have only started."

Further comment was held up by entrance of the black Arthur pushing a breakfast table on wheels. The sight and smell of that meal suddenly made me realize that we had been working all night and that I, for one, was ravenous.

In silence we began to eat. There was creamed chicken on toast, hot rolls and marmalade, and the exquisite coffee which Colt's butler grinds and boils with such loving artistry; the smell of that coffee is like an incense in my memory. After his third cup of that priceless beverage, and a voracious attack on the chicken, Dougherty leaned back, beaming brightly. When at last he spoke, his conversation had nothing to do with the crime. Instead, Dougherty began to talk of his shooting lodge in the Adirondacks of the ways of wild game in fog and sunshine, and the joys of living the hermit's life, which Dougherty, who had been married three times and had eleven children, could hymn with gusto. Colt responded in kind, enthusing over the fishing near the shores of Cape Cod, where he has his summer home. In this vein the talk rolled on, until Arthur interrupted us with an announcement:

"What speaks?" asked Colt.

"I don't know how much you guessed," he blurted, fear and sincerity struggling through an habitual instinct to dramatize every breath he drew, "but what I am telling you is the truth, so help me God. It is true that I didn't go on the Motor Parkway last night—I spent all those hours in a speakeasy trying to drink myself into a calmer state."

"What speaks?" asked Colt.

A blankness came into the actor's eyes and then as quickly disappeared.

"It was the North Star, on West Fifty-eighth Street, near Sixth Avenue."

I made a note of this, as Thatcher Colt motioned for Everett to proceed.

DENIED COMPENSATION FOR LOSS OF LEG

BUDAPEST.—A beggar is not entitled to damages for the loss of a leg, ruled the district court of Debreczin, "because damages are awarded to compensate for loss of income due to the incapacitation."

The beggar, Joseph Ballo, 57-years-old, was already a cripple with one leg. He was run over by a street car and lost the other leg. He sued the street car company for 10,000 pengos (about 300 pounds sterling at par).

The court found the motorman guilty of negligence but held that the loss of a second leg might prove an advantage rather than a disadvantage to a man in Ballo's profession.

With the presidential campaign definitely on, the sunspots won't have to bear all the blame.

Lack of Sleep May Account For Many Minor Illnesses

Six to Eight Hours' Rest Nightly Is Essential to Give Nature a Chance to Restore Energy Lost in the Waking Hours

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

MANY minor ailments can be traced to a lack of sleep. Yet the average person does not give much thought to the subject of sleep. Though he knows he feels better after a good night's rest, he may neglect this simple measure of health. The temptation to stay up late makes him forget his resolution to go to bed early.

A well nourished and healthy individual requires six to eight hours of sleep. A man may live for days without water, and a much longer time without food, but if he is deprived of sleep he usually goes out of his mind after the fifth or sixth day.

Sleep is essential to the proper growth and recuperation of the body. Fatigue breaks down the tissues and during sleep the body attempts to restore the cells and the energy that have been lost in the waking hours.

Causes of Insomnia

There are many who realize the importance of sleep but find it difficult to sleep. Insomnia, wakefulness, is a dreaded and often difficult trouble to overcome. Fear, worry, mental and severe emotional strain, are usually the underlying causes of thousands of cases of insomnia.

Sound sleep is restful sleep. It is usually a habit acquired in early life. The infant who has been taught to sleep at regular hours, grows and develops more quickly than the child who has scanty and broken sleep. The child taught to sleep properly is given a heritage he will carry with him throughout life.

The Daily Horoscope

Thursday, Sept. 22, 1932

Conflicting planetary influences are discerned for today; it will be well to pay attention to the health and protect the general interest rather than make effort to extend them.

These vibrations during the morning especially are exciting, enervating, and disruptive. Seers warn you, that judgment, analysis and discrimination are apt to be very poor.

Relax during the morning hours and keep the mind concentrated especially toward noon.

It is not a good day for correspondence, bookkeeping, communications, literature, industrial, financial, professional, social and amusement interests. Conferences should not be held today.

Under this rule of the stars, the greater part of the day is inauspicious for seeking favors, or dealing with those of high position.

Common sense should be used in dealing with sensitive people. It is necessary to exercise tact, diplomacy and consideration in contact with others, in order to avoid giving offense.

During the evening hours there may be a tendency toward relaxation, with a desire to rest. There are no indications that this time would be favorable for business or negotiations of an important nature.

Under this sway the death rate may be high in the United States. Disputes regarding foreign relations are indicated.

Children born in this day probably will be fond of the good things of life; they need to be taught concentration early in life, they will do their best when free from excitement.

Philip Dormer Stanhope, Earl of Chesterfield, English author, was born on this day. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Michael Faraday, English chemist and physicist James Bowdoin, 1752 noted philanthropist.

MOVIES

AT THE CLIFTONA

"Skyscraper Souls," a spectacular drama in which the lives of thousands of persons who work in New York's largest building serve as a kaleidoscopic background, will open Friday at the Cliftona Theatre with Warren William and Maureen O'Sullivan heading an outstanding cast.

"Skyscraper Souls" follows the modern trend of motivating screen drama through the background. "Grand Hotel," "Union Depot" and "Transatlantic" were forerunners of this type. But the skyscraper, according to Selwyn, is the most ideal of all backgrounds for this purpose, because it is a perfect microcosm of the life of a metropolis. It teems with every phase of human endeavor. There are to be found the rich and poor, the great and humble, the old and young—all eking out their lives in a common pursuit of money.

ROOSEVELT INVADES PRESIDENT'S STATE

ENROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO ON THE ROOSEVELT SPECIAL, Sept. 22.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt invaded the home state of President Hoover today with the most vigorous challenge that he has yet flung down to his Republican opponent.

The Roosevelt challenge was on the power issue. For the first time on his western tour, the Democratic nominee took off his oratorical gloves at Portland last night and hit hard at Mr. Hoover and his policies.

He portrayed Mr. Hoover as the servant of the private power interest. His policy with regard to the federal power commission, his vetoes of several Muscle Shoals bills, and his "closing the White House doors to the public interest in the St. Lawrence project" all demonstrate, Gov. Roosevelt charged, "that the Republican policy is dominated by private rather than public interest."

ASSAULTS INSULTS

For his own part, Gov. Roosevelt vigorously assailed "the insult monstrosity" and its ilk, and advocated a policy of strict federal regulation of interstate power, of holding companies, and of pitiless publicity for all details of public utility operation and ownership.

And in a dramatic conclusion to his speech, he took cognizance of the charge of "radicalism" which has been laid against him in some quarters.

"To the people of this country," said Roosevelt, "I have but one answer on this subject.

"Judge me by the enemies I have made."

After long applause, he added, "Judge me by the selfish purpose of these utility leaders who have talked of radicalism while they were selling water stock to the people and using the schools to deceive the coming generation.

"My policy is as radical as American liberty. As radical as the constitution of the United States."

An then after more applause he said, "Never shall the federal government part with its sovereignty and control over its power while I am president of the United States."

10,000 LISTEN

Some 10,000 people in Portland's civic auditorium roared their approval of Gov. Roosevelt's vigorous attack on the President Hoover and the Republican policy with respect to power. The power issue is a live one in the Pacific northwest, and his audience was keenly appreciative.

Gov. Roosevelt charged that there had been a "systematic, subtle, deliberate and unprincipled campaign of misinformation about the question of utilities control. He used the words 'lies and falsehoods' in describing the way 'this information has been bought and paid for by certain private utility corporations.' They have overcapitalized themselves, he charged, to the extent of some $520,000,000 and the American people are the losers to the extent that they are now expected 'to provide profits for this amount of watered stock.'

Sept. 22.—Some of the "lucky number" prize winners of the Moose charity balls, alleged by the government to have been lotteries, were presented from the witness stand at the trial today of U. S. Senator James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania, charged with violation of the National lottery laws.

Mrs. Mary Mychlin, of Astoria, N. Y., testified for the government that she had bought two fifty cent tickets for the 1931 ball for her two-year-old twin daughters and one of them won $5,000.

Mrs. Mychlin, with the excitement of it all still in her voice, testified she had the money put in trust for her daughter.

She said when she bought the ticket it had printed on it that $15,000 in prizes would be distributed, with $50,000 for first prize.

GROCERY WRECKED

MARION, Sept. 22.—A bomb explosion today partly wrecked the grocery store of Frank Vigelo here.

The blast, which occurred shortly after midnight, endangered the lives of Vigelo, his wife and daughter, Jeannette, 20, and a roomer, who occupy an apartment above the grocery store.

Shortly after the explosion, police took into custody Joe Cafagno, 39, of Delaware. Cafagno, who was said to have quarreled recently with the Vigelos, was held for questioning.

SOUGHT WATER FOR RABBIT BOY DROWNS

LIMA, Sept. 22.—Losing his balance when he reached down into a spring to obtain water for his pet rabbits, David Seybold, 4, was dead today—a victim of drowning. The pool in which the child lost his life was only three feet in depth.

Following the first day of his trial on charges of participating in the illegal lotteries operated by the Loyal Order of the Moose, of which he is an official, Senator James J. Davis (center) of Pennsylvania is shown as he left the Federal Court at New York with his attorneys. Senator Davis is accused of having received $172,000 personally from two Moose contests. It is rumored that former President Calvin Coolidge, in whose cabinet Davis served, would appear as a character witness.

The Allied Forces are not officially associated with any other group or organization, though they have with all others a common objective in support of prohibition and law enforcement. The present movement, its sponsors hope, will supplement the work of the various organizations supporting the amendment and bring together on a united front all citizens favoring prohibition.

Among its national sponsors are Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, William G. McAdoo, Senator Arthur Capper, Bishop William F. McDowell, Admiral William S. Sims, Coach A. A. GANDHI FAMISHED

Believe Hindus, Untouchables Will Reach Agreement To End Strike.

POONA, Sept. 22.—Famished by his "fast unto death" which already has lasted more than 48 hours, Mahatma Gandhi lay on his cell cot in the Yeravda jail here today, grimly conserving his energies for his struggle.

The Mahatma took nothing but water, which he sipped at regular intervals.

Meanwhile, it appeared likely that the political differences between the caste Hindus and the "untouchables" over the British electoral plan would be settled, thus enabling the starving "saint" to abandon his fast within two or three days.

Gandhi began the fast in protest against the British electoral plan providing separate representation for the "untouchables," holding this communal system would mean disaster for India.

Announce Tiger Lineup For Lancaster Game

New Equipment Given Players

A new football team and brand new equipment will take the field at Lancaster Friday evening, representing Circleville high school according to announcements by Coach Pete Herberholz and Faculty Manager E. I. Gephart. Thursday.

The new team will consist of six youths who have not played enough football to be called veterans, and five stand-bys who are expected to install enough fight and spirit into the team to carry off a victory under incandescents. The new equipment will consist of new pants, new headgears and new jerseys. The jerseys are white with large black numbers and the pants have red stripes running down the back of the legs. The team should appear plenty classy when it trots onto North field shortly before 8 p. m.

LINEUP NAMED

Coach Herberholz has announced his starting lineup and here it is:

Cook, left guard;
Miller, left tackle;
Wallace, center;
Rooney, right guard;
Robinson, right tackle;
K. Hill, right end;
White, quarterback;
C. Davis, left half;
Speakman, right half;
G. Hill, fullback, A.C.

Hegde, Rooney, Robinson, White and Gaines Hill are the only veterans on the squad. Miller and Wallace have played from time to time but have never stayed with the squad through the season. Both are now eligible and have been showing in practice that they really mean business this season.

Cook and Kenny Hill are the green men in the line. Both played a short time last year but not enough to be termed experienced men. Gordon is Cook's understudy.

USE TWO PROSPECTS

Dean White and Gaines Hill are the vets in the backfield with Speakman and Charlie Davis starting their first game. Speakman has taken on weight and size and is one of the brightest early-season prospects seen here for a long while. Charlie Davis, a colored lad, is a world of speed and Coach Herberholz is hoping for a dry night for this youth to get loose on. Bill Steele is expected to get into the game although he has been having trouble with his ankles. Steele knows what it is all about and may prove a real asset.

Mr. Gephart has placed tickets on sale at Hanley's Tea room and at Young's confectionary. The local school makes a better percentage from tickets sold here than it does from those purchased in Lancaster so it is hoped that all attending the game will buy tickets at 35 cents for adults and 20 cents for students before leaving this city.

It was announced that the school band under the direction of Prof. C. F. Zaenglein will accompany the team which will make the trip in automobiles.

Red Tomkins and Art Jones, both of Columbus, will officiate.

Protect Your Family at Night With a Bedside Telephone

You wake up suddenly. You realize that prowlers are in the house. Or that the house is on fire and the room is filling with smoke. The first thing to do is to summon help—by telephone.

In one such emergency a bedside telephone repays its cost for years and years. Even if a bedside telephone had no other value (and it is a great convenience in answering late hour calls and it is almost indispensable in times of illness) yet it would still be worth its weight in gold as "night-time insurance." Buckeyes "Key" Team Of League

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth of a series on 1932 Big Ten conference football teams.

By LEO FISCHER

COLUMBUS, Sept. 22.—Ohio State looks like the "key team" in the 1932 Big Ten race. The Buckeyes occupy a position where they may determine who will win, with a fine chance of slipping through to the title.

Capt. Sam Willaman is starting his fourth season with a schedule calling for conference games against Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan, Northwestern and Illinois. Michigan is to be played the Saturday after the Wolverines engage in their long-awaited struggle with Northwestern, while the Wildcat encounter comes a week after the latter team has battled the revenge-seeking Gophers at Minneapolis. If Northwestern and Minnesota lose any of their pep in the grueling games which precede their Ohio encounter, there's no telling what may happen.

SPARTANS READY FOR N. Y. TEAM

Chris Cagle, Hoge Workman and Others Invade Portsmouth Lair Sunday.

FORTSMOUTH, Sept. 22.—Judicious over the excellent showing of the Spartans Sunday against the Grand Rapids (Michigan) independent pro eleven football fans of the Tri-State region eagerly await the official opening of the 1932 National Professional Football League race in Ohio, scheduled for Sunday, when Portsmouth will meet the New York Giants at Universal Stadium here.

One of the strongest teams in the National League, the Giants will be a good standard to measure the probable future success of the 1932 Spartans. Both teams are in the pink stage, boast "mid-season" legs after vigorous weeks of training and will enter the game handicapped by no major injuries unless something unexpected develops at practice sessions this week.

STARS ON TEAM

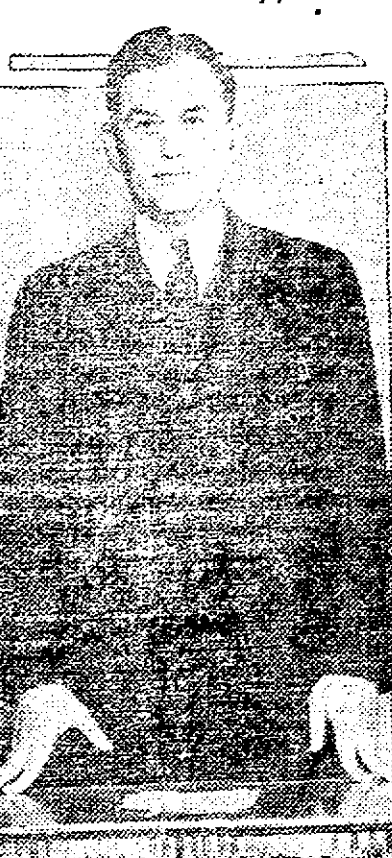

From football's all-time hall of fame such post-graduate gridiron luminaries as "Red" Cagle of West Point and Hoge Workman of Ohio State will lead the Giant pack into Universal Stadium. "Fuzzy" Gill, "Butch" Gibson and Gene Badger are other All-American selections in the New York lineup.

If big names would decide the game instead of teamwork the Spartans would be off to a flying start on their own account. Glenn "Dutch" Clark of Colorado, "All-American" from Nebraska, "Dutch" Clark of Colorado, "Father" Lumpkin, greatest of all Georgia Tech's famed "Rambling Wrecks," all play in the game backfield behind a charging line which averages well over 200 pounds end to end. But the Spartans know the value of timing plays to click off touchdowns and although they serve up prime dinnery waltz plenty, Portsmouth's big claims for 1932 National League honors rest in perfect team work and top-notch physical condition.

LUMPKIN RAMBLES

Lumpkin showed more speed in Sunday's game than at any time in his pro career, ripping off one 65 yard run for a touchdown after plowing through a stubborn line to gain an open field. Dutch Clark matched Lumpkin's feat and the "Wreck" came back for another dash of 20 yards to the goal, this time before an avalanche of perfect interference.

Grid to Congress

From the football arena to the United States Congress is a big jump but "Dad" Jones, former Yale University grid coach is confident he can make it. Jones has received the Republican nomination for Congressman to succeed Representative Joan Q. Tilson of Connecticut who is to retire.

Dean held the Reds to five scattered hits while his teammates punished Benton and Rixey for eight hits and pushed two runs across the plate in the second.

Seven Red men died on the bases while five Cardinals were left stranded on the sacks.

Dean's pitching was ultra brilliant in spots and throughout it was steady enough to shut-out the Cincy club.

Britain's Rebuff to Germany May Wreck Geneva Conference

Reich Determined on Arms Equality Despite Opposition of France, United States and England. German Overtures to President De Valera Believed a Factor.

SIR JOHN SIMON PRES. EAMONN DE VALERA

If the present international situation is any criterion, the forthcoming Geneva disarmament conference is due to flop even before it opens, marking the second time that such a jinx has upset the plans of the peace-makers. It will be recalled that the last conference was marred by the outbreak of the "unofficial" Sino-Japanese fracas. This time it is the refusal of France and Great Britain to accede to Germany's demand for arms equality that is to blame for the threatened wreck of the conference. In replying to Germany's demand, British Foreign Minister Sir John Simon made it plain that while Germany was bound by the Versailles Treaty, it is the purpose of the conference to cut down the armaments of other powers to a nearer level with Germany. The severe wording of the British reply is said to have been inspired by the disclosure that Germany had made overtures to President Eamon De Valera of the Irish Free State, as next president of the League of Nations Council, bidding for his support at the coming meeting in Geneva. The British stand was a distinct shock to Germany. But War Minister Kurt von Schleicher, said to be the power behind the government of Chancellor Franz von Papen, is believed to be determined to accept no compromise but to move towards rearming, even should France threaten armed intervention. Official sentiment in the United States is ranged behind the Franco-British stand, it is said, it being the policy of the Hoover Administration to urge the scaling down of armaments and in no case countenancing the building up.
